Subject: Babcock Place

I am continually disappointed that the developer of Babcock Place ignores input to the Babcock Place project from the several experts that have evaluated the site proposal. There must be some rational approach that could resolve this impasse. It seems the developer wants to wait out criticism hoping that opposing views finally grow quiet then silent.

North Brookline population is growing as single family homes get developed into multi family apartment condos. Traffic is already congested and the town is restricting traffic flow to add bike lanes (helpful). Large project can go forward if planners understand the impact of a project and craft projects that are designed to a scale that is comparable with the scale of the location.
