Voices from the Border: A Cry for Justice

Please join Human Rights Advocates, Jeanne Gallo and Sunny Robinson, for a presentation and discussion of current US immigration policy. Having been to the US-Mexico border in November 2018, they met with human rights workers, the families of the disappeared, DACA and other youth, as well as visited Annunciation House, in El Paso. Starting with an overview of U.S. involvement in Latin America, they will use the UN Declaration of Human Rights and the U.S.'s own asylum laws as the framework for how US immigration policy ought to and could be.
